Look Around

and see the women who are using Pearline. It's easy to pick them out. They're brighter, fresher, more cheerful than the women who have spent twice as much time in the rub, rub, rub, of the old way. Why shouldn't they be? Washing with Pearline is easy.

And look at the clothes that are washed with Pearline. They're brighter, and fresher, too. They haven't been rubbed to pieces on the washboard. They may be old, but they don't show it. For clothes washed with Pearline last longer.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 317 JAMES PYLE, New York.

GARDINER, Nov 2. The Centennial ice houses, of Randolph, were burned to the ground early this morning; loss about $4,500; uninsured The buildings, which were empty, had a capacity of 20,000 tons, situated on the river front of the town, and directly opposite Gardiner. They have been an eyesore to both communities for twenty years, having been filled but twice in that period. Steamer Kennebec had a narrow escape, being hauled up at the pier nearly abreast of the houses, but a favorable wind saved her, with a slight scorching The cause of the fire is supposed to be tramps

The People's Party may carry that State, but Mr. Harrison will carry all the rest of the North. The registration has practically settled the election. Mr. Harrison is as good as re-elected now. He will not lose a Western State, except possibly, Nevada, and will carry New York, Indiana, Connecticut, Delaware and almost certainly New Jersey."

A very unusual case of mental derangement has developed at West Poland within a few days, in the brain of Mrs Rollin A Green, says Tuesday's Portland Argus As she was going about her household duties she suddenly clapped her hands over her eyes, screaming with pain The best physicians were summoned as quickly as possible but they could discover no disease in her eyes, or any reason for their excessive sensitiveness Mrs. Green was obliged to remain in a darkened room, for the least flash of sunlight upon her eyes caused unbearable agony In an instant, a few days later, she became so completely blind as to be unable to distinguish between noon and midnight. The best specialists in Lewiston were called in, but they could find no reason for her blindness, and declared the case without a parallel in medical annals. As the light no longer hurt her eyes the strangely afflicted woman managed to crawl about the house a little, and to care for her babe which was only a few weeks old Suddenly, without exhibiting any previous symptoms of insanity, she began to pace the floor, wringing her hands and crying out in the most piteous manner that she had lost her soul, had committed the unpardonable sin It seemed to be a religious mania which still continues unchanged Rollin A Green and wife worked in the Haverhill shoe shop until they earned enough to buy a small farm in Poland She is about thirty years of age and an estimable woman

North Vassalboro had two cases of diphtheria last week, one of which proved fatal. They were in the family of Patrick Riley. The house and family were placed in quarantine immediately upon notice by the Board of Health, and the village schools have been closed until further notice

Levi P Wyman, the Colby student who was arrested by Officer Pooler, Saturday morning, at about three o'clock, for disorderly conduct while marching with his society from the Bay View Hotel to the college, was tried Monday morning at twelve o'clock. Judge Philbrook discharged the respondent on the ground of mistaken identity.

The Camden Herald says the new electric road in that town and vicinity has been patronized beyond the expectations of the most sanguine The fares since it was first opened have averaged nearly four thousand per day Some of those interested in the road talk of an extension on the route covered by the Waldo Street Railway. The route of the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden road reaches to the Lincolnville line and the other from Camden to Stockton Springs. Electric railroads seem to be among the best paying pieces of property in the State, and there are many more routes that might be established with profit to all concerned. Some of these are under consideration and others are not even thought of yet.

The Fete Breton or Kirmess, which has been held in the Alameda in Bath for a week past, in aid of the public library, closed Saturday night, but by general desire was continued for one night longer The entertainment was one of the finest ever seen in the city, and has been well patronized both by Bath citizens and visitors from out of town The receipts will foot up over $3,000 Of this a large part will be eaten up by expenses. One-third of the net receipts goes to Miss Margaret Eager, of New York, under whose direction the Kirmiss was given. The figures given by treasurer Low show that the library is richer by about $1,000 The gross receipts were $3,500. The banner was awarded the Venetians. The children's banner was awarded to the Flahers.

There is talk of forming at Old Orchard a company for the manufacture of boats. John Duff, proprietor of the Lowell House, is one of the promoters of the scheme. DEADLY CIGARETTE

Most Startling Instance of Its Fatal Power.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. A. Belk, a prominent young attorney of Washington, arrived in Cincinnati in good health and prospects of a successful life before him. "NEW MISSOURI."

The Campaign Cry Means Much to the State.

The Educational Influences of the Best at Work.

A St Louis despatch says The "yellow dog" has had his day in St Louis. A canine of improved breed is demanded This city gave Kimball, Republican, for Governor, in 1888, 10,362 plurality over Francis, Democrat It will give Warner, Republican, for Governor, in 1892, 15,000 to 16,000 over Stone, Democrat. In 1888 the Democratic candidate was a rich business man, the business men's mayor, the business men's candidate for Governor was in full favor with the machine in the city and State, backed by his own large fortune and the money of numerous rich young men in his own set, and had only a poor country lawyer to oppose him and yet he ran behind Cleveland in the city almost 3,000 votes The Warner cry of "A new Missouri" was at that time only an unframed wish, but it found expression at the polls—not as a rebuke of Francis, for he was a good mayor and a valuable citizen—but against the Bourbonism that was and is dominant in the State This year, with bitter dissension in the Democratic party locally, with a mayor at the head of the machine who has reasons of his own for desiring the defeat of his party's nominee for Governor, with all the better elements of the party alienated from the organization, and with an empty treasury, the local Democratic situation is certainly no better than it was then With this must be considered the increased support which the "new Missouri idea" will receive, and which will all count for the Republican State ticket It may amount to 20,000 votes in this city alone

There is in this city a coterie of business men, constituting the Mercantile Club with an active membership of perhaps 200 who have for several years devoted a great deal of attention to the subject of reducing Missouri's "yellow dog" Democratic majority, as a preliminary to securing an increase in the general business of the city with the country They have on occasions run independent tickets in local affairs, and either forced the nomination of partisan candidates to their liking, or as in a recent school board election—get some of their men into office There is every indication that this element is arrayed this year on the side of the Republican State ticket, and that it will be heard from on election day On their advice, and presumably with their substantial encouragement, the Republican State campaign has this time been carried down into the brush of the Ozarks, along the Arkansas line, as well as into northeast and northwest Missouri, where every alternate man is a kunnel and his neighbor a majah, where mud roads are the invariable rule and the farmer goes to a mill on a mule with a stone in the bag to balance the grist The Republicans have been carrying on their educational campaign in these Bourbon strongholds and giving the residents an idea of what a little capital would accomplish on their rich mineral lands if they would only give it half a chance

This work—discouraging enough at first—has begun to count, and has thoroughly frightened the Confederate kunnels and majahs into an industry in behalf of their own continuance in office that is entirely new to them

They begin to suspect that "constitutional" Bourbonism has had its day Formerly, under the Crittenden and Marmaduke dynasties, they could drum almost any majority they wanted out of the bushes in thirty days, but they evidently suspect that something is wrong now, for they have done more hard work in their strongholds this fall—in the last three months—than in the twelve years represented by the Crittenden, Marmaduke and Francis campaigns.

If the two old parties could have it out, without any distracting influences there is no doubt that St Louis would be able to entirely overcome the rural Bourbon majority, but the populist vote must be taken into account If it is very light, the chances are against the election of Warner but if it comes up anywhere near the claims of its party managers, there will be an overturning and out-turning of Bourbons such as has not been witnessed since the days of the peripatetic Claiborne Jackson State government If Warner leaves St Louis with 14 000 majority—and the Republican workers say they will not be satisfied with any less—and the populists poll 20,000 (the equivalent vote in 1888 being 15,436 in St Louis and 24,114 in the State), he will be the next governor, in which case a number of things will happen that will tend to cure the people of the State permanently of their relish for the husks of "Jeffersonian democracy

About the electoral vote If Warner wins, he will win on independent Democratic votes—the votes of those who have been known throughout this campaign as "Warner Democrats," but they are yet Democrats, and not quite prepared to vote Republican Presidential electors, and he would be indeed an optimistic Republican who would expect them to be converted at once to all the principles of the party, State and nation

Educational influences have been at work wholly outside of political lines In southwest Missouri last spring, in Taney county, one of the "Bald Knobber" strongholds, a deputy sheriff was assassinated at the door of the county jail while trying to prevent a mob of his neighbors from hanging an insane wife murderer, who was actually dragged out of the jail and lynched over the dead body of his lawful guardian Members of the mob took little pains to conceal their identity, and within a day or two every man who participated in the crimes was known to the county prosecutor

Yet not an arrest was made until the government, moved by an appreciation of the discredit cast on the name of the State, compelled the prosecuting attorney to get a grand jury together and return indictments against fifteen men. Francis and the attorney general stood behind the sheriff and prosecutor and drove them through every stage of legal process until the cases were before a petit jury. A witness was found who stood beside the murderer of the deputy when he fired the shot, and who went with the mob to the tree and saw the lynching, and he gave the most minute particulars and was the means of securing corroborative testimony, and yet the public prosecutor was obliged to abandon the case, stating in open court, as well as in his report to the attorney general, that he could not hope to secure a conviction before the then presiding judge. The prisoners were almost her almost totally dismasted Her foremast was gone close to the deck, maintopgallant mast and rudder had been carried away, and by signals it was learned that she had twelve feet of water in her hold

It was a dangerous task launching a boat in the sea then running, so Capt Bartlett called for volunteers Almost the entire crew responded, and the lifeboat was lowered, containing Mr T G McKenzie, the second officer Mr W H Stead, third officer and five brave seamen

For an hour the life savers battled the sea finally getting close under the bark's quarter Then came the task of getting the men and one woman, the stewardess, off the bark It was a long and dangerous job, but finally everybody was safe in the life boat and she was headed for the steamer Another long pull and she was along side, and her crew and the saved were safely transferred to the ship's deck In getting the lifeboat up however one of the falls parted from the heavy strain and she was swept astern and lost

Capt Helgesen, of the Supreme states that they left Pensacola on August 28 Everything went well until October 1 From that date the weather commenced to get bad, and on October 17 when in N lat 47 30', W lon 28 24 took a gale from the southeast, which gradually increased to a hurricane accompanied by a terrific sea, causing the vessel to labor and strain heavily and ship great quantities of water, throwing her on her beam ends, in which position she remained for several hours

In order to right her the foremast and main rigging had to be cut away The vessel sprung a leak and to keep her from foundering, the crew was at once assigned to the pumps three of which were kept going, as well as the windmill pump but only by strenuous efforts managed to keep the water from gaining The following day the rudder was carried away thus rendering the vessel unmanageable The gale blew incessantly for four consecutive days, and most of the time it was extremely dangerous to be about the deck but the crew pluckily kept working at the pump until rescued by the Orinoco

Had it not been for the timely appearance of the above steamer the crew could not have held out much longer, as they were completely exhausted

The crew consists of Norwegians and Swedes, and they lost nearly all their personal effects The Supreme was built at Quebec about fourteen years ago and was afterward sold to the Norwegians She was owned by S Rasmussen of Haugesund, and was insured She was 752 tons burden, and valued at about $8,000

Capt Helgesen and crew wish to express their heartfelt thanks to Capt Bartlett and crew of the Quinnebaug for the timely rescue, kind treatment and generous hospitality while on board the steamer Much credit is due the officers and seamen of the Johnston line for their bravery at sea this being the third shipwrecked crew that they have rescued in the past twelve months

A GREAT RAILROAD SCHEME

Another Blow Aimed at the Consolidated. It is Said—Reading People Believed to Be at the Bottom of It

A well known New York capitalist is authority for the following tale or story

A railroad project which will bear on summated costs into the shade all former projects for paralleling the New York New Haven & Hartford railroad So far advanced is the scheme that a New York capitalist says that actual operations will begin soon after the first of December next

The parties backing the project are the same who have lately made the Reading Boston & Maine and New York & New England combine, and their aim is to build a line which will compete with the Consolidated railroad from Bridgeport to New York

It is the purpose of the new company to construct an 18 mile road from Danbury to a junction with the Harlem at Golden's Bridge and, by an alliance with the New York & New England establish a New York and Boston connection

The layout decided upon will cross the Harlem at White Plains and form connection with the New York Central at Yonkers, and the cost of building the new road, including land damages, is estimated at $4 000,000

It is reported that Col W H Stevenson, ex vice-president of the Housatonic will be made president of the new company

President Clark and General Manager Little of the Consolidated road were interviewed to-night regarding the project They admitted that they knew nothing of it, and asserted that they believed it untrue It is, however the general opinion here that this is another blow aimed at the Reading people at the Consolidated line, and was intended long before the Boston & Maine and New England deal last week

His Words of Deep and Extraordinary Interest to Our People.

There Is No Mistaking Their Meaning and They Carry Conviction

Wife and daughters

There are no words in our language fraught with a greater depth of affection to the father of a family than these They concentrate in themselves companionship love happiness home

We do not wonder therefore at the grandfather and lover of the father who sees both wife and daughter saved to him and restored to health and strength when for a time all looked dark and it seemed as if all hope for a cure would have to be abandoned

Such has been the experience of the well known J W Cundiff of Matamoras, Pa and his communication to this paper which we publish below is certainly very thankful as well as hopeful in tenour

MRS J W CUNDIFF

My wife was for three months or more with what doctors call bronchial trouble. The local doctor knew of very little use It affords me great pleasure to say that Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy got her well Indeed both my wife and little daughter were greatly benefited by its use

He had had a stroke of partial paralysis and was unable to hold the pen Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy was given him when the doctors could not

It gives me pleasure to add my testimonial in favor of this great remedy

LITTLE LOTTIE MAY CUNDIFF

Cured when the doctors could not This is the record which we publish every day about this wonderful medicine, Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy It is certainly the most remarkable cure of disease and all sufferers should use it Don't be persuaded that any drug gists for something that is purely vegetable and harmless

Such a testimonial at any moment be classed with ordinary patent medicines for it is the discovery of a great physician the prescription of the renowned Dr Greene of 35 Temple Place Boston Mass, the most eminent specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases who gives consultation and advice free personally or by letter

Is the Forerunner of Weakness of the General Health.

A Few Terse Paragraphs Which It Will Pay to Read and to Fix in the Mind —How to Avoid Taking Cold—The Way to Maintain Good Health

This is the season of the year when people take cold easily

A cold is not the simple thing most people imagine It is a serious matter

A cold is the forerunner of an enfeebled condition which may result in a severe illness if not death

Why do people take cold? Because the system is weakened, because of loss of tone of health.

Derangement of the stomach and bowels weakness of heart and lungs dizziness and similar troubles, — these conditions favor taking cold, and pave the way for serious ills

The way to avoid taking cold is to keep well If you are perfectly well it is simply impossible to take cold or to contract contagious diseases

There is one safe way to avoid colds and to preserve health, and that is, to take HIDDEN'S MAGNETIC COMPOUND

When you detect the first symptoms of a cold, such as sneezing, dull pressure about the brain, a feeling of weakness, of lassitude, you will find this remedy the perfect panacea.

It quickly tones up the stomach and bowels, regulates the action of the heart, frees the lungs of poisonous deposits, clears the brain, gently stimulates the nervous system—in other words, restores the patient to full and perfect health

HIDDEN'S MAGNETIC COMPOUND should always be kept in the house It is invaluable at this season of the year.

All druggists sell it. Price, $1 per bottle The genuine is never sold for less If you wish to try THE COMING REMEDIES, ask for and insist upon having

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

For President:

BENJAMIN HARRISON,
OF INDIANA.

For Vice President

WHITELAW REID,
OF NEW YORK.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

For Electors at Large:

THOMAS W. HYDE, of Bath.
WILLIAM H. HAZELTON, of Cherryfield.
First District—E. M. GOODALE.
Second District—SIDNEY PERHAM.
Third District—A. W. WILDES.
Fourth District—RODNEY C. PENNEY.

A vote for Cleveland is a vote for free trade and wildcat currency. Let the people of Maine keep this fact in mind next Tuesday. Bring out the full Republican vote.

Since Hill's last speech in New York city the Democrats have had much less to say about Burchard McVeagh. The warmed over convert has been an expensive luxury on the stump for the Democratic brethren, who now realize the mistake.

The New York Morning Advertiser, commenting upon the statement of Henry Watterson, namely, "Nominate Cleveland and the Democratic party will march through a slaughter house to an open grave," coolly remarks that "the trench is prepared."

Harrison and prosperity, Cleveland and calamity are the alternatives offered the people of this country in the election Tuesday. Maine's verdict should be an emphatic one and in order that there may be no mistake about it every Republican ought to go to the polls.

Just think of the New York Mugwumps going to the polls and voting for Boss Croker as a Presidential elector. It simply shows that the Mugwump is a foul bird. If anyone has doubts on this point let him read what Godkin, of the Evening Post, said concerning the charseter of Croker no longer ago than last June.

As the last resort the Democrats have brought out Cleveland to take the stump in his own behalf. It will be remembered that they sent him into Rhode Island in the closing days of the campaign in that State in the spring election, but his presence failed to save the calamity party. It looks as though he would be no more successful in New York.

Senator Carlisle made a speech in New York Monday night in which he arraigned the last Republican House on account of extravagant appropriations. He failed to mention the fact that the last Democratic House beat the Republicans by some $40,000,000 and yet our friends the enemy are in the habit of speaking of the Kentucky Senator as a honest man. That sort of cheap subterfuge may "go" in the South, but it will not deceive the people who keep in touch with the march of current events.

The New York Democrats seem inclined to take the advice of the Sun, namely, "don't bet" on the success of the Democratic ticket. Political bets do not count for much, but in view of the fact that the Democrats have had a good deal to say about their eagerness to bet on Cleveland, it is somewhat significant that men who were ready to bet $70,000 on the re-election of the President offered it in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and New Orleans without finding any Democratic takers. The calamity party is playing a "bluff game."

In his letter of acceptance Mr. Einstein, the Republican candidate for Mayor in New York city, says that the contest is between "the people and the most corrupt and despotic of political machines." His arraignment of Tammany is very severe, but no more so than the charges that have been preferred by the Mugwump bogus that are now marching under the Tammany banner as a part of the trade between Cleveland and this corrupt machine. The performance ought to open the eyes of the voters as to the utter lack of principle in the Cleveland canvass.

One of the humorous phrases of this campaign is the way in which the Democrats revamp their old converts and bring them out as fresh conquests. They have made half a dozen men do repeated service in this manner. The device has its funny sides. Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, is a great wag. He returned from Europe the other day. When he landed in New York a friend gave him the general political situation and among other things told him that Wayne MacVeagh had gone over to the Democratic party. Senator Edmunds' sole comment was: "What! again?" That's about the size of it.

It seems to be in order for some one to ask the Commercial, "Where was I at," in one paragraph last night it said:

While the manufacturers are loaded up to their hats with statistics of abnormal prosperity, the leaders of the party which shares this wealth had such a struggle to make ends meet that they had to assess $500-a-year post office clerks 10 per cent. of their annual stipends. There's rank ingratitude here somewhere.

The very next paragraph, however, read as follows:

The New York World estimates the subscriptions of protected manufacturers in Pennsylvania to the Republican fund for re-electing Mr. Harrison at $2,000,000. Now, if the favorites who get the benefit of tariff taxation in one state can afford to pay such a pricely sum to keep the Republican party in power, how much more might the taxpayers afford to spend to secure Republican defeat?

Our Democratic contemporaries should try and come to some understanding on this question so as to avoid confusion in the minds of their readers.

In a conversation with Colonel Conger, of Ohio, who has recently been in Wales investigating the tin plate question, he said that he found the utmost anxiety shown there in the success of the Democratic party at the coming election. "If Harrison is elected stump and re-utters as the silly clap-trap of the penny-Sheets as did Cleveland in New York, Tuesday night, it is enough to disgust intelligent men. We quote the following extract from the speech of the Democratic candidate:

The fact that, with all these things in our favor, we still are not absolutely sure of success would be startling if we did not know the desperate and disreputable methods which confronts us. Our opponents, vanquished in every argument worthy of presentation to the reason of our countrymen, have appealed to these passions and prejudices through the distribution of the most impudent lies concerning our record and action of our party and its candidates. This, however, is not their main reliance, nor is it our greatest danger. It is a confession most humiliating to American citizenship that, with a cause so thoroughly intrenched in reason and organized itself so clearly to the intelligence of patriotic Americans, the daily bear predictions of Republican success based upon the ability of that party to purchase the votes of the people.

One might expect such talk from a Tammany alderman, but it is beneath the dignity of a Presidential candidate, or at least any candidate but Cleveland. Think of a man with his record making such a charge of corruption against the people. When Governor of the State of New York he used the entire patronage of the office to force his nomination upon the Democratic party in 1884. Defeated in that campaign as he surely was he was only too willing to slip into the Presidential chair by reason of the corrupt practices of the heelers in New York city, who counted the Butler ballots for the regular Democratic ticket. Even this fraud would not have been sufficient to turn the election had it not been for the disfranchisement of thousands of voters in the South by the same methods against which a faction of the Democratic party in Alabama is to-day protesting.

During his entire administration he debauched the civil service to promote his own ends without regard to the efficiency of the service. In 1888 he contributed $10,000 to the corruption fund of his party and has duplicated the contribution this year. Posing as a man better than his party, it is a notorious fact that he has entered into a shameful bargain with the Tammany bosses bartering patronage for votes. He is in daily conference with Croker, Sheehan, Murphy and other leading tights in the Tammany wigwam, men who have been denounced by the organs that are now supporting Cleveland as a disgrace to the politics of the country. He has dined and wined them and in fact promised them anything they may ask in return for votes to promote his personal ambition.

When he talks about argument he simply invites attention to his letter of acceptance which was the production of a shifty politician, rather than the candid discussion of the question now before the country by an honest man. The Republicans have taken an honest position in favor of protection and the party candidates stand squarely on the platform adopted at Minneapolis. The Democrats took an equally honest position in favor of free trade, but although that platform is in keeping with the well known views of Cleveland in the past, the exigencies of the campaign are such that he makes a bungling attempt to dodge the effect of the plank in a series of contradictory propositions intended solely to mislead people until after the election. This is the man that assumes to impeach the integrity of the voters.

The New York speech is the wail of a defeated candidate, but it nevertheless stamps Cleveland as a cheap demagogue.

Resolution of Thanks.

The following communication has been received from the campaign committee of the Republican Club of the city of New York, which has been conducting the great series of mass meetings in that city:

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK,
450 FIFTH AVENUE.

JOHN S. SMITH, Chairman.
W. M. K. OLCOTT, Secretary.
HENRY HALL, Treasurer.
Cornelius N. Bliss, Herman O. Armour, James Ex-Sen. Seth M. Milliken, Charles F. Homer, Henry L. Einstein, and others, Committee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22, 1892.

Hon. C. A. Boutelle, Bangor, Me.

Dear Sir:—At a recent meeting of this committee the following resolution was offered and unanimously adopted:

Resolved: That the thanks of this committee are due and are hereby given to Senator Hiscock and the Hon. C. A. Boutelle for their able addresses at the mass-meeting held by this club at the Cooper Union, October 4th, 1892."

Very respectfully yours,
W. M. K. OLCOTT, Secretary.

Outlook in Iowa.

Ex-Governor B. R. Sherman, who was Iowa's Chief Executive from 1882 to 1885, was in Philadelphia on his way to the West from Washington, D. C., where he was in attendance at the Supreme Council of Thirty-third Scottish Rite Masons of the Southern jurisdiction. He stated to a reporter that he felt confident that Iowa would cast her electoral vote for Harrison, and that the Republican plurality would be about 20,000.

"We shall carry ten out of the eleven Congressional districts of our State," said the Iowan, "which will be a gain of five, the Iowa delegation at present only having five Republicans. The people of our State heartily indorse the Republican policy of protection to American industries, and have substantial evidence of the good effects of the McKinley law right at home.

"New manufactories of a desirable character have been established at Des Moines, Dubuque, Sioux City, and other points. The industrial prospect of the State has been advanced. We object to wild-cat money and are against the Democratic proposition to repeal the tax on State banks. Before the war we were flooded with depreciated State bank notes from Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska, and suffered accordingly. We had but one State bank and its notes were redeemed.

"President Harrison has always been popular in Iowa and will be well supported in this campaign. We have no State issue to influence the national contest, not having to elect a Governor, Legislature, or Judges this year. Weaver, the Populist candidate for President, of course, cuts no figure in Iowa, which is his home, for there his political career is well known. We are about to try the Australian ballot for the first time, and I cannot predict whether it will prove a good move or not."

MR. WHITTIER'S VIEWS ON LIFE INSURANCE are shown best in a letter written from his home at Oak Knoll in 1888 to the vice-president of the Boston Life Underwriters' Association, replying to an invitation from that body to be present at their monthly dinner:

ESTEEMED FRIEND: I so heartily approve of the really great and good work in which you are engaged that I regret my inability to avail myself of the 23d invitation to be present on the interesting occasion. No one who has made himself acquainted with your stupendous work can fail to see in it a vast beneficence—a step towards the abolition of poverty, a check to the hazardous speculations prompted by the necessity of gain for the benefit of partners, a grateful relief to homes saddened by worry and anxiety. It is a business which is not only pecuniarily profitable to those engaged in it, but to all who patronize it. It is more and better than charity, for it involves no loss of self-respect and independence on the part of those who are benefited by it. I am, with all good wishes, by friend,

It was observed until March 9th, 1680, and its near approach to the earth caused great alarm to be felt in every part of Europe. If both companies be allowed to spend for the care of old business only 5 per cent. of the premiums paid by that business, the Equitable spent for new business $6,282,834, and procured thereby $186,715,026 of new business, showing an average cost per $1,000 of new business of $33.65; while the Connecticut Mutual spent for new business $727,544, procuring thereby $10,944,587 new business, showing an average cost per $1,000 of new business of $66.48, or just about double that of the Equitable! It would follow on this standard of expenditure for care of old business, that the Connecticut Mutual paid more than TWICE as high a rate for new business as did the Equitable, AND YET THE EQUITABLE OBTAINED MORE THAN 17 TIMES AS MUCH AS THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL.

TERRATHED TO MURDER HER,

And Almost Succeeded Once—Now She Sues for Divorce.

DEDHAM, Mass., Nov. 3. The trial of divorce libels occupied the attention of the Norfolk superior civil court this afternoon. The first case called was that of Lizzie S Townsend, of Weymouth, vs. William Townsend, Jr., of Lewiston, Me. The couple were married at Weymouth, Oct 18, 1875. They are the parents of three children. William wanted his wife to advance money to start a saloon, but Lizzie demurred, and from the results of this matrimonial storm desertion resulted, the husband leaving her in January 1891.

On divers occasions William has threatened to murder Lizzie and at one time a sister of the wife interfered to save her from violence at the husband's hands. Some evidence was introduced to show that he was in the United States mail service. Evidence was also put in to show that William secured or had pending in the Maine courts a libel of divorce from Lizzie. His Honor ordered the libelee defaulted and directed the counsel for the wife to investigate the matter of the husband's application for divorce.

An attachment on two stores which Goodman operated in South Dakota, where he is a non-resident, caused the banks of this city to take action against him for their own protection.

The jury censured the railroad company for not having a check on the yardmaster in the shape of an order issued to stations south of Conshohocken and for running green crews. Rupp will probably be arrested to-morrow.

A WILD INDIAN

Indian Agent Needs Troops to Carry Out His Plans.

WASHINGTON, Nov 2. An account of the trouble among the Navajos in New Mexico and Arizona, was received to-day from Indian Agent Shipley, at Fort Defiance, Arizona.

He says he started with his interpreter, police and wagons to Round Rock to get twenty-five or thirty Navajo children at the agency school. Black Horse, an Indian chief, with about thirty or forty men, came to Round Rock and insisted that he must not take any children to the agency school, notwithstanding that the consent of the parents had been given.

The agent adds that Black Horse became very angry and with the assistance of his men forcibly took him out of the store and intended to kill him, but he was rescued by friendly Navajos and the police. After the fracas was over Black Horse and his followers threatened to kill the agent a staff, the interpreter, Mr. Shobell, and Charles Mitchell, unless a promise was made not to ask for any more children in any part of the reservation. The agent closed by asking authority for the use of a sufficient number of troops to force Black Horse and his followers to furnish the children for the schools.

The Prohibitionists Sell out to Democrats in Iowa.

Money Used to Draw Votes from the Republican Ranks.

The People's Party Goes to Pieces in Portions of Indiana.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 2. The Journal to-day received the following special from Des Moines, Iowa:

The details of the selling out of the third party prohibitionists to the Democrats have been made public here and have caused a great political sensation. The Democrats paid $8,500 to the chairman of the State central committee.

This money was used to boom the third party, the object being to draw as many votes from the Republican ticket as possible. The Prohibitionists who have been sincere are very much stirred up and many of them are openly repudiating the third party leadership.

THE SCHEME FAILED.

Attempt to Release Convicts at Charlestown Prison Fails.

BOSTON, Nov. 2. A small fire broke out in the shoe shop at the Charlestown State prison about 11 P. M., evidently being incendiary. It originated in a large box of shanks, the contents being thoroughly saturated with oil, and in the center of of which, it is said, were clockwork and chemicals with which to ignite the fire.

There was no confusion among the prisoners who were in their cells.

The pecuniary loss is light. It is thought it was intended to have the fire occur about the time the convicts were marching from the shops to the cells, so that in the confusion some might escape.

WE ARE NOT AT FAULT

Canadian Government Doesn't Care to Do Its Share

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. A dispatch printed in certain Canadian papers relative to the failure to consummate negotiations looking to the allowance by the United States and Canada of mutual wrecking privileges in the boundary waters between the two countries, by implication placing the blame on the Department of State here, is said to be founded upon a misunderstanding of the facts.

May 24, 1890, Congress passed an act permitting Canadian wrecking vessels to succor distressed or wrecked Canadian vessels in contiguous waters of the United States. Two conditions were imposed One was that the President should give effect to the law by proclamation only after the Canadian government had extended a like privilege to vessels of the United States in contiguous waters.

The other was that the agreement should apply to the St. Lawrence canals as well as to the canal system connecting the great lakes. Thus far the Canadian government has failed to meet this last condition. The Canadians seem indisposed to include their own canals in the scope of their act. The President is therefore obliged to withhold his proclamation and the Department of State cannot be charged with responsibility for the delay.

Why the Republican Leaders Expect a Victory.

The Registration in New York City Fully Analysed.

The Increase Wholly in Republican Districts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. The members of the Republican National Committee do not intend to take anything back from their statement of last Saturday afternoon that the Republicans would carry the State by at least 20,000 plurality. All of the members of the committee were at their desks in the national headquarters in Fifth avenue to-day, and the reports that they received from various parts of this and other States went to confirm the belief that resulted in sending out of the telegram on Saturday afternoon that Harrison's election was assured.

Senator Quay was one of the earliest callers at the building. He remained there most of the day consulting with one member of the committee and another, in regard to the various details of the campaign. Senator Quay was a member of the conference last Saturday, when it was decided that the outlook was such that the committee could be fully justified in declaring the belief that President Harrison would be re-elected. He said to-day that he believed that the assertion would be proved to be absolutely true!

Ex-United States Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, also called at the headquarters To a reporter he said: "All of my information, all my belief, all my judgment and all of my hopes are in favor of our success, for our cause is right and our candidates are right, and I cannot believe that the people of the United States are either ignorant or crazy."

The Registration.

There are many significant facts about the registration in New York city, all pointing, in the judgment of the Republican National Committee, to a victory for Harrison and Reid. One of the most important facts is that the registration for 1892 below Fortieth street, or in that part of the town where the Democrats are specially strong, is 3,801 less than it was in 1888 Above Fortieth street the registration this year stands 143,363, as against 122,274, an increase of 27,049, or 22.12 per cent. The entire increase in registration therefore, is above Fortieth street.

Comparing the registration by Assembly districts, as at present constituted, with the total vote cast in 1891 in those districts, the fact appears that in the districts casting heavy Democratic majorities the increase of the registration over the vote cast is about 26 per cent, while the increase in districts giving a small Democratic or a Republican plurality is about 37 per cent.

The first ten Assembly districts of this city are Democratic, the majorities ranging, on the vote cast in 1891, from 2000 to 5000. In those districts the percentage of increase of registration this year, over the vote cast in 1891, is only 22.96. The Eleventh District is a Republican district. There the increase is 32 85 per cent. The Twenty first District is a Republican district. There the increase is 27 per cent.

The Twenty-third District is a Republican district. There the increase is 51 per cent. The Twenty seventh District is slightly Democratic, but it contains an enormous Republican vote. There the increase is 41 per cent. The Twenty-eighth District is also slightly Democratic, but there, too, the Republican vote is heavy. The increase there is 37 per cent.

The sum and substance of all this is, that in those parts of the city where the Republicans are strong registration is extremely heavy, showing a large increase over the total vote cast last year; while in the heavily Democratic districts the registration is low, showing a small increase over last year's vote.

Six weeks ago Mr. Croker gave out the prediction that the registration in New York city would amount to 330,000. That was a conservative estimate. It allowed for a considerable falling off from what would be a full registration. On the basis of the natural increase over the registration of 1886, there should now be on the registry lists of this city 342,000 names. But there are only 309,625, and the loss, as the analysis given clearly shows, lies in the Democratic districts

Total Democratic Vote Probably About 190,000.

In those districts, however, there has been an enormous amount of false and illegal registration. Undoubtedly as many as 1,500 Democratic repeaters have been registered, and these men are expected to operate, each of them, at a dozen different polls.

The Republican managers do not expect them to do anything of the kind. They are determined that the election in this city shall be fair and the count honest, and they will resort to the extremest measures known to the law to assure that result. The registration as it stands proves the truth of the Democratic allegations at Chicago that Cleveland is essentially a weak candidate. When the Democratic delegation from this State united in the statement to the Chicago Convention that Cleveland couldnot possibly carry he State of New York, they contemplated precisely the situation which has come about. They showed that there would be a slump in the Democratic vote if he was made the party nominee, and their predictions have been realized.

They have made a bold fight to save him, but they have not been able in three months to undo among their followers the prejudices of years The Republican County Committee by comparing their canvass of the city with the registry lists, have ascertained that substantially the full Republican vote of this city is on the rolls Allowing for all possible loss, it is reasonably certain that 118,000 Republican votes will be cast, as compared with 108,000 in 1888. The full vote of the city will not be more than 291,000. If the Democrats obtain a vote of 170,000 and a plurality of 55,000 they will do uncommonly well This is as much as they can, with any degree of reason, hope to accomplish

REPUBLICAN COLLEGIANS

Bowdoin and Colby Republicans Have Enthusiastic Meetings.

Hon. O. D. Baker, of Augusta, addressed a rousing audience in the town hall, Brunswick, Tuesday evening, upon the political issues of the campaign. He spoke under the auspices of the Bowdoin College Republican Club. Mr. Baker confined his remarks very largely to the discussion of the tariff issue which he handled in a masterly manner. The audience was an enthusiastic one and the large number of college students present and their appreciation of the excellent address indicates the large majority of Republicans in Bowdoin

The Student's Republican Club of Colby, held an enthusiastic meeting Tuesday at which by-laws and a constitution were adopted and the following officers elected President, C F Stinson, '93, Vice-Presidents, H T Jordan, '93 H M Connors '93, F Howe, Jr., '94, W I Gray, '95 Secretary and Treasurer, H L Whitman '94 The club is preparing for a grand rally to be held next Monday evening It is expected that Hon O D. Baker and Hon H M Heath will address the meeting Colby students also stand solidly in the Republican ranks

AMUSEMENTS

Mr Wilkinson's Widows

The members of Charles Frohman's company will make their bow in William Gillette's "Mr Wilkinson's Widows" at the Opera House next Monday This vehicle of introduction proves particularly felicitous for the players, for the parts assumed in Mr Gillette's comedy could not be presumed to need serious consideration on the part of an audience One is whirled away in the vortex of farcical situations until, having enjoyed several good, hearty laughs, he thinks he begins to see the end of it all, when more and almost endless complications come rushing in upon the already burdened sense of the ludicrous There is material for several comedy farces, all wrapt up in this one breezy comedy, which will be presented at the Opera House next Monday evening The sale of seats will open to-morrow morning

Amusement and Musical Notes

Mr. Walter Damrosch will use trumpets instead of cornets in his orchestra henceforth

The friends of Emma Eames-Story are sympathizing with her in her disappointment over her broken engagements in New York and Boston, especially as the young singer has no prospect of anything as remunerative and agreeable as she has been looking forward to in the side

Rafael Diaz Albertine, the Cuban violinist, will make his first appearance in the United States at Chickering Hall New York, on Nov 10 He will have the assistance of Anton Seidl and his orchestra and will be heard in Vieuxtemps fifth concerto and compositions by Saint Saens and Sarasate

A Russian nobleman has ordered a piano-forte of gigantic proportions, to cost $40 000

The Vienna Musical and Dramatic Exposition closed with a deficit of nearly $100,000 Francesca Prevosti (Prevost), an American singer is meeting with great success One hundred and twenty thousand dollars and 28,000 admissions were the totals for the Bayreuth festival

Of John Phillip Sousa's triumph in Chicago with his new Marine Band which which is soon to appear in Bangor the Chicago Post says "There is not another brass and wood organization in the country that can play with such finish such exquisite delicacy, and such lovely tone contrasts as this band showed in the Rossini overture and fairy like Czibulka morceau, the 'Dream After the Ball.'" No string orchestra could bring out the artistic nuances with more notable effect Indeed, herein lies the chief merit of the new band They know the value of refined expression and they also know how to secure that expression Equal always to the bravura passages, they are equa always to those finished effects that accompany true virtuosity In this particular the band's performance as a brass band was a revelation of what skill and drill can do The individual players are men of exceptional merit, and Mr Sousa will have a scope for the exercise of his genius that will show him to be one of the greatest band leaders living, and his band as the equal of the best

Minna Gale-Haines, of whose tour John B Schoffel will have charge, will have a company composed as follows Eben Plympton, Creston Clarke, Charles Barron Frank Bangs, Arthur Lewis, N F Brissac and Owen Faucett, Zaffie Tillbury and other ladies to be announced The repertory will comprise "Romeo and Juliet "As You Like It, "Much Ado About Nothing, "Macbeth, "Twelfth Night "The Two Gentlemen of Verona, "Pygmalion and Galatea, "The Lady of Lyons," "The Hunchback, "Ingomar, and a new play Miss Gale has been a pupil to advantage as leading lady for Lawrence Barrett and Edwin Booth

TABLEAUX-PHANTASMA.

Enjoyable Entertainment this Evening at the Opera House

This and to-morrow evenings at the Opera House will occur what is confidently expected to be a most enjoyable and unique entertainment, the "Tableaux Phantasma" and the indications are that very large audiences will be present. It is given by Prof J. W. Sherman under the auspices of the Y P C U of the Universalist church

There will be one hundred participants and a carload of scenery and costumes is required The scenery is in place and everything is ready for the performance. The dissolving views one scene changing to another in full view of the audience in the usual stage light, are presented by mechanical contrivances in a most mystifying manner Besides the tableaux there will be music by the Apollo Quartette and others Professor and Mrs Sherman conducted a very successful rehearsal last evening.

Rev Leonard J Gardner, pastor of the First Congregational church Oroville, Cal, says "Allow me to expressmy personal appreciation of yourself and your wonderful entertainment * * * Your entertainment is much the finest of the kind I have ever seen—mysteriously beautiful, refined and elevating I wish every man woman and child could see it My people and the community in general were delighted as your crowded houses testify.

by others—that's why the guarantee of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should command attention. It's a guarantee that means something. If the medicine doesn't give satisfaction, in every case for which it's recommended, the money is promptly refunded. Remarkable terms—but it's a remarkable medicine. All the functional irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to woman kind are cured by it. For leucorrhœa, periodical pains, weak back, prolapsus and other displacements, bearing-down sensations, and all "female complaints," it's an unfailing remedy. It is a powerful, restorative tonic and nervine, imparting strength and vigor to the whole system.

Try it, if you're an ailing woman. If it doesn't help you, you have your money back.

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results.

Many a life has been lost because of the taste of cod-liver oil

If Scott's Emulsion did nothing more than take that taste away, it would save the lives of some at least of those that put off too long the means of recovery

It does more It is half-digested already. It slips through the stomach as if by stealth. It goes to make strength when cod-liver oil would be a burden.

BREWER LOCALS.

Mr. Nathaniel Carpenter, of the neighboring town of Dedham, is reported as being ill.

Mrs. Sue Pencexter, of Waltham, Mass., is the guest of Mrs. A. H. Pond, in East Eddington.

Mrs. A. C. Ward and Miss Nina Sweet, of Eddington, are visiting with friends in Massachusetts.

Mr. Joseph Brainer, of New Hampshire, has returned to that State after a visit in this vicinity.

A fine new flag now waves over the school house, at Eddington Bend, which was raised Columbus Day.

The schooner Eliza A. Anderson, which has been at Rollins' upper wharf, loading lumber, has been receiving some repairs.

Mrs. J. F. Skinner left on the steamer Lewiston, yesterday, for Boston, and will visit in that city and its vicinity for a few weeks.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle connected with the First Congregational church held a meeting in the vestry yesterday afternoon for work.

Dr. Kelliher, of Dedham, is to move this week from that town to East Holden, where he will occupy what is known as the Allen house.

Mr. W. H. Sargent, of South Brewer, who has been ill for some time, is now able to be out. His friends are glad to see him on the street again.

Mr. J. S. Ayer, of South Brewer, has been purchasing potatoes in Thorndike and shipping them to Boston. Several carloads of the tubers have been thus disposed of by him

A new hall is being erected in the neighboring town of Clifton, and the work of finishing the building is now going on rapidly. It is a good sized and neatly constructed edifice

Yesterday was another cold, disagreeable day, and its tendancy to remind one of the winter that is approaching was increased by the snow which fell at intervals during the time.

The board of registration begins its four days' sessions, for the purpose of registering voters not previously enrolled, this forenoon, at 9 o'clock, in the Marshal's room, in the City Hall building.

John R. Weeks was arrested by City Marshal Fickett Tuesday for being drunk and creating a disturbance, and yesterday was brought before Trial Justice Curtis and sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

It is probable that the J. O. B.'s will have another course of assemblies during the coming winter at City Hall. The matter is now being talked up and the indications are that another of these popular subscription courses will be run

Tuesday night was one of the coldest of the season thus far. By ten o'clock in the evening the mud in the streets was frozen quite hard and a heavy frost came. Early in the morning the mercury registered a temperature some degrees below the freezing point.

Capt. Joel Hopkins, of the schooner Dick Williams, who has been at his home in the city for a few days, left yesterday on the steamer Lewiston, to join his vessel, which has been discharging a cargo of coal at Winterport for the Boston & Bangor Steamship Company.

Mrs. Charles A. Harlow, who has been at the Maine General Hospital in Portland receiving treatment, is improving in condition and it is expected that she will be able to return to her home in this city in the course of a week or two. Mrs. Harlow's many friends will be pleased to know this.

The next meeting of the City Council will be held in Tuesday evening of next week, when the members will come together for the purpose of canvassing the vote of the city in the election of Electors for President and Vice President, which occurs on that day. Some other business may also be disposed of.

The two new bridges, one on Wilson street, the other in Eastern Avenue, which have been built during the past season, have cost, in the aggregate about $1,000 This is about $200 more than the estimate on which the appropriation was based. Both have been excellently constructed under the direction of Street Commissioner Holbrook, and will last for many years.

Butterflys seem out of place in this latitude at this season of the year, but Mr. Gebrge W. McKay found one on one day of this week, in his garden, near Brimmer street, apparently unaware of the fact that snow had fallen once this fall and was likely to do so again at any time. This seems to be quite a season for belated insects, fruit and flowers of summer, as moths have been seen repeatedly lately and reports of the finding of berries and flowers still growing out of doors are heard.

We wish this morning to call the attention of our readers to the great bargain Mr. Allan G. Ray, the well known dry goods dealer, at No 93 Main street, is offering in Germantown worsted yarn. Goods in this line, all colors, the same as those usually sold for ten cents a skein, he offers for seven cents. Ladies' shopping bags, a first class variety, from fifty cents to a dollar and a half. His stock is large and of the best, and he sells goods at lower prices than they can be bought in Bangor. See his advertisement in another column.

Quite an addition is being made to the library of the Sunday School connected with the Congregational church at East Orrington. Some social events were held during the summer for the purpose of raising money for the purchase of the books, which resulted in the realizing of a goodly sum, and the most of it has been spent for the desired object. The young ladies have been instrumental in the work and are much pleased at the success which has attended their efforts. About fifty volumes have been added to the library, which will be much appreciated.

CHINA'S CAPITAL.

Strange Sights and Sounds in the Streets of Pekin.

Eighty Thousand Beggars.

The Emperor's Life One Ceremonial.

[Harper's Weekly.]

The town is always animated. At certain hours of the day the streets are as crowded with foot-passengers, riders on horseback, and carriages as in the streets of London or of Paris. There is nothing to interest and amuse the spectator like the tar carts and Chinese chaises, the latter green sedan-chairs, the color varying according to the rank and importance of the owner; grooms of the palaces in low livery, couriers of the Emperor, yellow and black uniforms, long trains of camels belonging to Mongol caravans, condemned prisoners wearing or carrying their cangues, etc., etc.; and on each side of the carriageway, under shelter in the open air, musicians and jugglers, mountebanks and necromancers, public scribes, second-hand booksellers, dealers in clothesmen, furniture brokers, coal-heavers and harness-makers, barbers and chiropodists, cooks and pastry-cooks, sellers of fruit and tea merchants; in a word, every variety of itinerant dealer, resulting in an infinite variety of bright and picturesque scenes.

Or a wedding procession marches through the street, with its band, its lanterns, its banners, its parasols, the attendants in holiday costumes, and the bride carried beneath a red canopy Or perhaps a funeral cortege of apparently endless length with its flute-players and gong-beaters, its incense burners, its Buddhist priests chanting litanies, its mourners making grimaces and howling succeeded by a long string of vehicles laden with all the things supposed necessary to the defunct in the life beyond the tomb; behind which come the relations and friends of the deceased dressed in white hair-cloth; and last of all, borne on the shoulders of sixteen, twenty or thirty hired assistants, the huge coffin itself, oaded with gilded sculpture and hung with beautifully embroidered silk hangings.

The filth of the streets is yet another element of the picturesque. No description could possibly give an idea of the Dust two feet deep, or lakes of mud at every turn heaps of refuse, for the half-naked beggars are fighting with mangy dogs; every conceivable nuisance and every conceivable variety of ruin, no police, and no drainage!

Beggars are the curse, the most conspicuous and shameful evil of Pekin. Numbering some 80,000 they form a kind of corporate fraternity, with their own traditions and privileges, such as those of the mendicant friars of the Middle Ages in western Europe and like them, having their "Emperor," the Galilee, Duke of Egypt, or King of Thunes," that is to say, an elected chief to whom they all yield obedience. The most curious feature of the whole institution is that the chief, whose headquarters are on the Bridge of the Gate of Heaven, is recognized by the police of Pekin as a dealt directly with him in matters relating to the corporation of the town.

As for the misery of these beggars no description could give any idea of it. Not for a rag about their loins, they are entirely naked. Even in the severe winter, when the bitter wind sweeps across the Mongolian steppes, and the thermometer falls below zero, the poor wretches have, many of them, not a shred of clothing to cover about their shoulders, and they succumb to the cold every night by hundreds.

Gaunt and wan, covered with vermin and sores, they wander about the streets, harrowing the feelings of the passers-by with their piteous lamentations, and annoying with dogs for a share in the refuse in the streets; or, for hours together, they crouch outside a shop, driving purchasers away by their mere presence, till the owner gets out of patience and throws them a few coins in self-defence. When night comes they seek shelter under the bridge beneath the gates of the town, or in some tumble down house, lying closely in a shelter skelter, men, women, young and old, and children in a promiscuous heap. Their physical misery is such that all moral degredation is overlooked. There is on their faces all traces of an inner life wiped out; like the beasts they can only endure, and seem, to some extent, to have lost the capacity for suffering

A little on the north, actually within the "Prohibited City," are nine huge spaces, separated by courts, one succeeding the other, and each as spacious as that of the Louvre. This is the most private portion of the palace, the Ta-nei or "Great enclosure," which is grand and imposing but at the same time simple and severe, nothing theatrical about it. Here is carried out the mysterious existence, the strict destiny, imposed by tradition for more than thirty centuries on the sovereign of China. As the Son of the Earth and Brother of Heaven, the Emperor owes his supreme authority to his divine origin. His titles, which remind us of those in use at the Byzantine court, are "The Infinite," "The Initiator and in Science," "the "Eternal," "The Solitary One," the "Unique," the "Sublime," and so on. None dare utter or write his name during his lifetime, and it is reserved to posterity to sing his praises.

Accustomed from babyhood to be adored and to the prostration of everyone in his presence, he is initiated at six years old in the knowledge of canonical books, the celebration of religious rites and the history of his ancestors. On the approach of his seventeenth year a bride is chosen for him from amongst the most noble and beautiful young girls of Mantchu origin, as well as two secondary princess, wives and fifteen concubines. Interminable are the marriage ceremonies in which take part six thousand persons of different rank, and in which everything—insignia and costumes, gestures and attitudes, speech and silence, processions and banquets, sacrifices and prayers most important and the most trivial details—is regulated with hieratic precision. The very mysteries of the bridal bed are subjected to the authority of invariable religious rites.

And the whole life of the man, who is absolute master of 450,000,000 of people is but one long ceremony, divided into some hundreds of different acts, religious, now political, but always grave and solemn Even death does not free him from his sacred position, and his majestic necropolis of Tsaun-hoan-hsi is supposed to be still performing, among funeral rites, the same superhuman duties as in his life on earth.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me"

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
